Attention To Details Announces Opening of New Detailing Training Facility in Boise!

June 1, 2007 – Boise, ID. – After many months of searching for just the right location, Renny, Diane and Brian have opened up the new training facility located near the Boise Airport, here in Idaho.

We have already trained 6 students in the new facility, and by all accounts, each student has enjoyed the new and larger and well equipped site.

We are also expanding our training schedules and available training dates to accommodate over 80 students per year through the new site. All of this can be done while still maintaining our personalized and one-on-one training capability. We don't intend to change our personalized training and business coaching that has made us unique within the industry. If you are serious about building a solid business and solid personal, detailing skills, then come see us at the new facility.

Much more is in the works for 2007. We are now traveling to aircraft FBOs (Fixed Base Operations) throughout the country to provide personalized, on-site training for aircraft technicians. Also, in August, we will hold the second in the series of Business Conferences here in Boise. More details and special "early bird pricing" will be announced shortly.

We still have our trips to Boeing, Seattle (Air Force One), Oshkosh Airshow and Reno Air Races on the calendar amidst all of the training activity going on. It's turning out to be quite a year at ATD.

We have attached a couple of photos of our new site for your enjoyment. We hope that your 2007 is booming as well as ours is!
