Attention to Details Release Directory

Attention To Details is excited to introduce Brian Saade to our team of training and mentoring professionals.

March 04, 2007 – Boise, ID. – Brian and his Wife Barbara were long time residents of Orange County, California and have recently moved to the Boise, Idaho area, which many of you know as headquarters for the Attention To Details family. Brian's leisure time includes motorcycle riding and enjoying the Idaho scenery.

Brian has held top management positions in several large manufacturing and aerospace companies over many years, and most recently in the design and manufacture of carbon-fiber products for the automotive, aircraft and sporting goods industries. Or as Brian would say, "carbon fiber products from golf clubs to airplane wings". Some of Brian's customers were as large as The Boeing Co. and as small as those making carbon-fiber surfboards in their garage!

Brian's background includes a "hitch" in the Marine Corps at age 18, the pursuit of an engineering degree while working 2nd shift as a welder, followed by over 25 years of experience in developing products and pleasing customers.

His recent experience with monomer and polymer products for the automotive industry, gives Brian a unique perspective on the chemicals and products that we all use everyday in the automotive restoration world. His passion for great customer service and working smarter not harder fits well with the ATD business model.

Within the above photos, Brian shares his passions within life, his lovely wife Barb and their two sons Chris and Mike along with Brian's "adopted baby", a 2006 Harley Davidson Deluxe!
