Over One Year Of Testing Polishers...and The Winner Is?

January 22, 2008 – Boise, ID. – Attention To Details has been performing advance testing on Dual Action Polishers for well over one year. "Each time we had a winner, a new polisher would come out" offered Renny Doyle, the Founder of Attention To Details. "2007 was the year of the random polisher and we tested and retested everything from standard PC Dual Actions to High End Imports" added Doyle.

As 2008 starts, Attention To Details operations are quickly adapting and switching to new and true random orbiting polishers made by Flex! "Its hard to shock me and after running so many polishers this year, when the Flex popped up I nearly did not test it...after working with so many good polishers I was skeptical if anything could beat some of the polishers we tested...a friend let me loose on his Flex Dual Action and WOW! The ease of use, quality of work and overall craftsmanship of the tool are heads above anything else we tested and we tested every serious Dual Action player on the market today" Renny said!

Attention To Details is proud to offer the Flex Dual Action in our New Detailing Equipment Packages. "The Flex is not for everyone, I think some price sensitive people will have to decide if they desire to perform at a new level within detailing that includes better results in a shorter duration or stick with the old fashion forms of paint perfection...I know what machine this picky pro will be using now along with every shop we maintain", Renny offered.
